

Door County has a history of cherry growing that dates back to the 1800s. Soil and weather conditions, warm days and cool nights, influenced by Lake Michigan and Green Bay, have created an ideal situation for growing these delicious fruits.

Today with around 2,000 acres of cherry orchards and another 500 acres of apple orchards, Door County is filled with blossoms in the spring and is richly decorated with the delicious fruits in the late summer and fall.
